

If you were like me, you devoured every single episode of Downton Abbey when it was airing, and binged on it between seasons! Well, now you can bring a small element of posh living with a chapter from Carson's Butler's Book. I've assembled an Entertaining Chapter for your own book, so you can be a well organized and impeccable host or hostess for parties and visitors to your home.

You can use this printable however you would like, but it is intended as a catalog of frequent visitors and their likes, dislikes, allergies and more that an altogether host would want to know to make the guest's visit amazing and personal.

Now, don't go handing this to your guest and ask them to fill it out - you aren't a doctor's office. But as you chat and get to know your guests, you'll be able to go back and fill in the details after they've gone so that the next visit will be even better, more personal and destined to amaze them.

As you go through the sheet, you will see that you won't know everything about everyone, but your more frequent or close guests will have more information filled out while your more infrequent visitors will have less. That's okay!
